A message from the president

As I type this message my retirement is but days away. And as is characteristic of such major life transitions, I've been asked many times about my reflections on the past 20-something years. One of the most frequently asked questions is, "What is the most prominent project or proudest moment of your career at the hospital?" That's a weighty thought to ponder. There have been so many new buildings, new clinical units, new procedures, new highly skilled clinicians, and new technologies about and for which I was privileged to talk, write and encourage philanthropic support. Each event, edifice, person, or medical advance offered me the opportunity to personally grow my understanding of our ongoing health care challenges and to contribute in a small way to enhancing our incredible health care system. I was fortunate to be a part of Central Georgia Health System while it enjoyed many of its finest moments, including the highest skilled clinicians, the most dedicated staff, the best leadership team, and a most committed cadre of donors and volunteers. It is impossible to select one moment, person, procedure or structure. It has all been a wonderful journey for me.

There is, however, one phenomenon which stands out and which transcends my career. In 1998, the same year I began my tenure with The Medical Center of Central Georgia, "six degrees of separation" became a popular phrase. Everyone was enthralled by the thought of linking all mankind through six or less friends. Over the decades, countless mathematicians, statisticians, sociologists and psychologists have sought the exact number of degrees. In fact there is a term for this measurement: collaboration distance. For me what stands out most is not the calculation of collaboration distance, rather the concept of collaboration closeness. The measure of connectedness and partnerships which has spanned my years at MCCG and Central Georgia Health System is miraculous. We, the fortunate beneficiaries, are connected through our health system by much less than six degrees. We are a family and a community, the spirit of which I shall treasure and carry with me always.

I bid my friends and colleagues farewell in the literal sense. May you not only "fare well" but may you "fare excellently." On behalf of myself and my family, we will always treasure our membership in the Central Georgia Health System family and we shall remain connected forever.

It has been an absolute pleasure to work with and among you. My memories are blessings I shall always hold dear.

Celebrating 25 Years of Visionary Leadership

BY: NICK WEST

There isn't a single moment Ethel Cullinan points to as emblematic during her tenure as President and Chief Executive Officer of Medcen Community Health Foundation, rather a collection of happenings that led her to the vision she began to lay out over two decades ago.

When Cullinan was named CEO in 1991, she noticed a collective lack of understanding from the central Georgia community of the world-class services provided by Central Georgia Health System and the primary non-profit entity under its umbrella: The Medical Center of Central Georgia. But over the next 21 years, Cullinan helped change that mindset by fostering with an unrivaled enthusiasm the hospital's value to the community.

"My vision was to have the central Georgia community truly appreciate the jewel we have in Macon – a world-class hospital," Cullinan, 67, said. "I didn't want people to see it as just a community hospital or some place to go when they couldn't go anywhere else, but that they actually chose to have their care here. That's always been my vision."

Not surprisingly, as the community's perception of the hospital improved, so, too, were there tangible changes. Medcen held a corpus of $5 million when Cullinan took the helm; its principal today is over $60 million, with another $25 million given to support MCCG and the community during her leadership.

"Whether it's a donation of a dollar or ten million dollars, it means that a person cares about the hospital," she said. "We've raised a lot of money over the time I've been here, but we can't raise money if people don't believe in the entity in which you're asking them to invest."

Cullinan has built countless bridges of goodwill and understanding between MCCG and the community.

She will retire on March 30, leaving behind a legacy that includes Medcen support of these major projects: Ronald McDonald House, Peyton Anderson Health Education Center, Community Health Works, The Children's Hospital, fourth floor Medical Intensive Care Unit, W.T. Anderson Health Clinic, Albert J. Luce, Jr. Heart Institute and Pine Pointe Hospice of Central Georgia, an inpatient hospice house. Medcen has also supported millions of dollars in research and education grants, acquiring new technologies, and expanding health programs for the citizens of central Georgia.

Cullinan made it her goal to serve as a catalyst and bring the right people together, whether it was volunteers, colleagues, board members or donors to achieve the aforementioned successes. Her strategy built momentum for a cause, and when the force grew stronger, countless donors began to altruistically and generously give to the Foundation.

"Our patients, their families and countless community supporters have been unselfishly charitable with their resources, thus ensuring we have the best hospital possible."

She doesn't take the donors for granted, nor her colleagues and Foundation volunteers, all of whom she said made her successful.

"To be able to work in an environment where, by nature, the people are unbelievably smart and where we do good for the community has been an absolute gift and blessing."

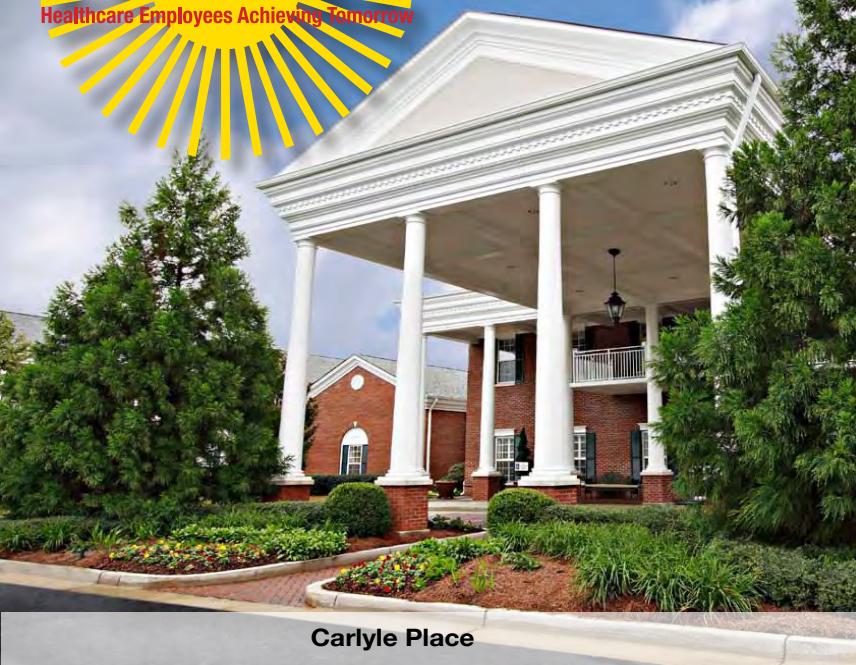

But it took her gifts – one of which was unparalleled passion – to make central Georgians understand and appreciate the incredible health care resource and economic driver that exists in their community.

Frederick M. Schnell, MD, CEO and President, Central Georgia Cancer Care, LLC

Central Georgia Cancer Care, LLC Helps Lead Campaign for

THE COMPREHENSIVE Cancer & Research CENTER

BY: DEBBIE SCHUCHMANN

They're dedicated to their families, they're dedicated to their patients, they're also dedicated to the organization. Who you ask are "they"? They are physicians who are part of Central Georgia Cancer Care, LLC. They are the physicians who as a group made a conscious decision to donate a very generous gift to help build the new Comprehensive Cancer & Research Center.

Twenty two years ago, Dr. Schnell, CEO and President of Central Georgia Cancer Care, LLC, along with his partner at the time, made a decision to move onto the Medical Center of Central Georgia campus in order to elevate the level of cancer care in Central and South Georgia. They saw an opportunity to positively impact the future of "sophisticated" care and set their sights on achieving their dream of delivering the best cancer care and treatments available.

Unbelievable strides have been made since then. He's seen cancer care move from a mostly inpatient setting to mostly outpatient treatments. This means instead of having an operation and maybe undergoing radiation treatments requiring overnight stays in the hospital, patients now can often undergo their treatments in a day's time and then go home. As care and treatments have evolved in this direction, so have the requirements for space and the needs of the patients and families. Being a longtime leader in the care of cancer, Dr. Schnell and his group of cancer specialists, now are partnering with the Medical Center to provide the kind of specialized space needed to compliment today's standards of care.

It was nothing less than inspiring listening to several members of Schnell's vital team expressing their enthusiasm for the new Comprehensive Cancer & Research Center which will be located at the corner of Hemlock and First Streets, directly across from the Albert L. "Buddy" Luce Heart Institute. Still in the design phase, it will have up to eight floors with the first four floors housing all outpatient cancer diagnostic and treatment centers, including radiation and chemotherapy. Physician offices will be located on the upper floors. These physicians, all specializing in oncology, are unanimous in the belief that having all services under one roof will be a tremendous benefit to the patients and their families.

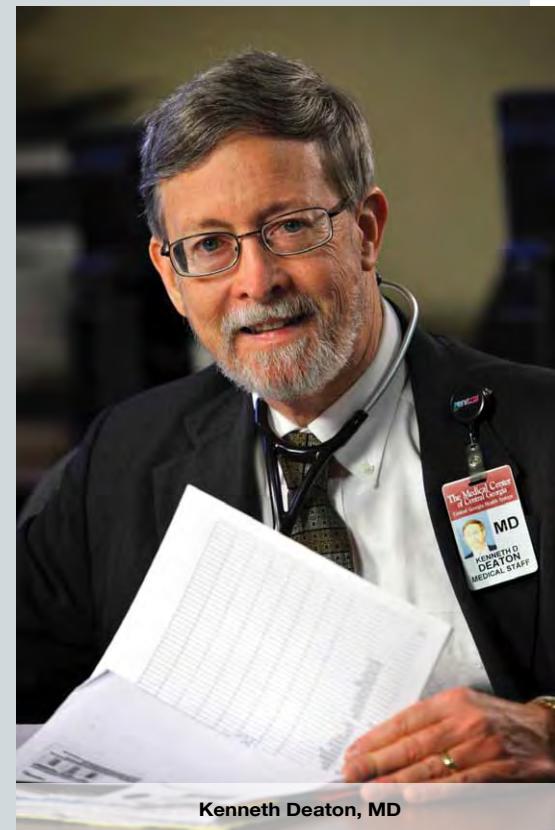

What I found most touching was their sensitivity about the bonds they develop with their patients and their sincere desire to keep their patients close to home in an atmosphere focused on hope and healing. Repeatedly they voiced the need for patients to be near their families and friends during treatments – it's actually part of the healing process! Among the many benefits this CCRC bring are the nurse navigators who take each patient and family by the hand and steer them through the maze of physician and treatment visits from the day they are diagnosed. They echoed Dr. Schnell's enthusiasm about MCCG's affiliation with the University of Alabama at Birmingham which will open doors to much greater cutting-edge resources than ever before, providing access to second and third opinions without ever having to leave home.

This much optimism, this much positive energy, this much of an investment in human lives is an absolute ray of sunshine for anyone who has suffered the brutal effects of cancer treatments. We should all be grateful for this and all gifts which will bring world class cancer care close to home. Please contact me, Debbie Schuchmann at 478/633-6151 or Schuchmann.Debbie@mccg.org for more information regarding the Comprehensive Cancer & Research Center.

Local BB&T invests in New Comprehensive Cancer & Research Center

BY: DEBBIE SCHUCHMANN

Scott Seigel, Senior Vice President of Branch Banking & Trust (BB&T), Macon, Georgia and Vice Chair of Medcen Community Health Foundation is committed to the mission of his organization, which is to make the community they're in a better place to live. Scott knows well how important top quality health care is to making a community a better place to live. So his decision to make a major gift to Medical Center's campaign to build a Comprehensive Cancer & Research Center(CCRC) was well justified.

Scott's involvement with Medcen began about seven years ago when he happened to meet another Medcen Board member at a totally unrelated event. This "chance" encounter led to a longtime relationship between the Medical Center and BB&T. They started with a major gift to the Luce Heart Institute, then they named a patient room at PinePointe Hospice of Central Georgia, and now their most recent gift will also result in a named room in the new CCRC.

BB&T's commitment to the community reaches out not only to MCCG, but to other entities such as Mercer and New Town. The commitment doesn't only belong to Scott. The entire BB&T staff is involved in reaching out to the community to make it a better place. They are very hands-on, participating in programs to feed our children, making Christmas brighter by providing an entire family with presents, and helping make a child's room a little more special.

What Scott likes about investing in a capital project such as the Comprehensive Cancer & Research Center is the fact that, "it isn't like a one-time sponsorship, this gift now will last a long time. It goes way beyond the bricks and mortar. The care and services housed in the new facility will be available to countless cancer survivors and their families for years to come."

He also likes the fact that he sees The Medical Center as an economic driver in Central Georgia. People and business looking to make Macon their choice of residence want a community where there is access to a full-service hospital, not just a place to "get you by," but a hospital where babies are born, knees are replaced, hearts are mended, and lives are literally saved. His own in-laws chose to move to our area because as aging seniors, they were concerned about how far they would have to travel for health care. As it turned out, great healthcare was right here.

Lisa Castro-Proveda, Michael King, Renee Bryan, Scott Seigel, Nicole Gleaton

Scott Seigel, Senior Vice President

Asked if there were any other reason why he chose to give to the Comprehensive Cancer & Research Center, Scott noted the prevalence of cancer in our society and the advantages of having access to care and treatment right here at home. Scott says our hospital is a gem they (the community as a whole) don't realize is available. He urges anyone who is a cancer survivor or just anyone interested in the health care of our community "to come see for themselves. Call Debbie Schuchmann, call me, when you visit the hospital and you see the excitement of the people who are there - it is contagious!" Debbie can be reached at 478-633-6151 or Schuchmann.Debbie@mccg.org.

Hospital Hero Award: Harriette Carter, Trustee of the Medcen Foundation Board, Recipient of Georgia Hospital Association Award

BY: DEBBIE SCHUCHMANN

Harriette Carter's path of volunteerism began nearly two decades ago when her sister-in-law, Rene, was placed under hospice care. After experiencing the passion exuded from Hospice of Central Georgia clinical staff and volunteers during an unpleasant time in her family's life, Harriette wanted to share in their kindness and altruism, and decided to become a volunteer.

While working separately as a career placement consultant in the health care industry and in her family business, Harriette spent the next 10 years comforting hospice patients and their families during their difficult moments. She was then asked to serve as a volunteer on the Hospice of Central Georgia Advisory Board, a fundraising branch of the Medcen Community Health Foundation, which, through community-endeavors, helps fund services of The Medical Center of Central Georgia. Medcen had just voted to approve a $5.5 million campaign to fund a free-standing hospice home and needed to raise all the money before groundbreaking.

Harriette's knowledge and passion about Hospice of Central Georgia and her connections within the community made her an easy selection to lead the volunteers' fundraising efforts. She acquired vast knowledge about (the clinical and business aspects of) a successful hospice house, and thus was asked to join the Hospice Capital Cabinet, a board which sought specific donations of $50,000 or more to the campaign.

When it came time to raise funds, Harriette was one of the first to give. She conversed with friends, family, local businesses and faith-based organizations about donating. She attended every fundraising party, meeting, event and luncheon hosted by Hospice of Central Georgia. No matter the types of persons she met, Harriette could communicate effectively with any of them. Her intuitive sense about people and warm personality made her efforts succeed.

In 2009, the monetary goal was reached, and the free-standing hospice became a reality, but Harriette spearheaded efforts to recruit much-needed volunteers, as law requires a certain percentage of Georgia hospice services must provide care via volunteers. Harriette's volunteer journey came full circle when, at Pine Pointe Hospice 2010 grand opening, she stood in front of a patient room named in memory of Rene, her beloved sister-in-law who died nearly two decades before.

"Because of Harriette's selflessness, dedication, and compassion, we have a hospice that can provide to countless individuals in central Georgia," said Don Faulk, president and CEO of Central Georgia Health System. "She is a shining example of a hero."

Torre Lavelle Raises Funds to Purchase Blanket Warmer for Chemotherapy Patients

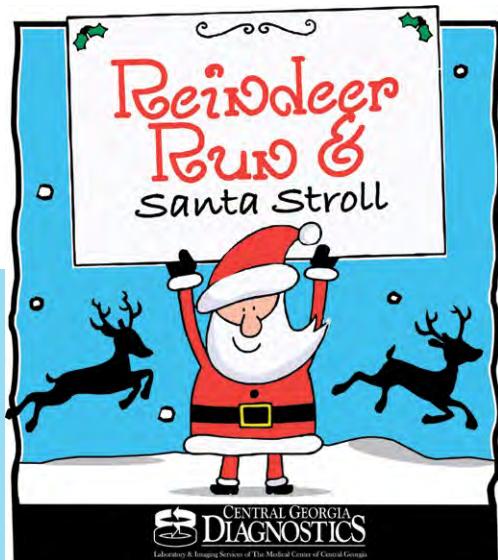

BY: DEBBIE SCHUCHMANN

Nancy White, RN, Torre Lavelle,
Ethel Cullinan, PhD, Carolyn Campbell

Girl Scout Gold Award winner Torre Lavelle presented a $1,500 check to the Medcen Community Health Foundation, part of Central Georgia Health System for the W.T. Anderson Infusion Center. Ms. Lavelle's generous donation will be used to purchase a blanket warmer for chemotherapy patients in the infusion center at the Cancer Life Center at The Medical Center of Central Georgia.

Ms. Lavelle earned the Gold Award, the highest achievement in Girl Scouts, for her project benefitting Pantene and the American Cancer Society's "Beautiful Lengths" program and Matter of Trust's initiative that makes booms to clean up oil spills. Ms. Lavelle collected hair donations through a drive at her high school and financial donations from central Georgia businesses. It was her project goal to raise money for a blanket warmer for chemotherapy patients.

19th Annual Reindeer Run & Santa Stroll

BY: KATHY TOLBERT

Runners get ready for the start of the race

Ready, Get set, Go...

Macon Occupational Medicine's Claus Corporate Challenge Team

The cold weather was no deterrent for the 1,335 pre-registered runners and walkers for the 19th Annual Reindeer Run and Santa Stroll held this past December 3, 2011. Once again, we had a record number of participants for our annual race, benefiting The Children's Hospital at The Medical Center of Central Georgia. Central Georgia Diagnostics and BLC Hardwood Flooring teamed up again this year to present the Reindeer Run and Santa Stroll.

Since the race benefits The Children's Hospital, it seems only fitting to have the start line located right in front of The Children's Hospital on Pine Street. As the start gun went off, all 1335 racers took off towards the historic Mercer University campus. This year, Marc Kushinka was the overall male winner with a gun time with 16.06 minutes and Victoria Coppage was the overall female winner with a gun time of 18:32.

The 2nd Annual Claus Corporate Challenge was a big hit this year. The challenge encourages local businesses to get their employees involved and active, all the while supporting The Children's Hospital. This year's Claus Corporate Challenge was instrumental in helping recruit a new sponsor, Macon Occupational Medicine. Macon Occupation Medicine was not only a new sponsor for Reindeer Run, but also the Claus Corporate Challenge winner for Most Team Spirit and Small Business Participant. BLC Hardwood Flooring is also a HUGE part of the Reindeer Run and Santa Stroll and the Claus Corporate Challenge. This year, Team BLC had a few team members break their all time personal best race time.

This year's event raised over $39,000 for The Children's Hospital at The Medical Center of Central Georgia. Proceeds from this year's race will go to help fund future enhancements and projects within The Children's Hospital. Medcen Community Health Foundation would like to take this opportunity to thank EACH participant and sponsor for their support of the Reindeer Run and Santa Stroll and The Children's Hospital. Mark your calendars for the 20th Anniversary Reindeer Run and Santa Stroll, Saturday, Dec. 1, 2012. This will be an event you won't want to miss!

CEO Roundtable

BY: DEBBIE SCHUCHMANN

Local business leaders gathered for an informal lunch and presentation on Thursday, Nov. 17th in Medical Center's Trice Auditorium. Valet parking was available for guests participating in this business forum and members of Medcen's Business & Corporate Committee were on hand to greet and guide them to their destination. Don Faulk, CEO and President, Central Georgia Health System, Joe Lavelle, COO, and Judy Paull, RN, Director of Nursing also greeted this diverse group of business leaders.

The program began with a presentation of a plaque honoring BB&T for their recent pledge to be used for the construction of the new Comprehensive Cancer & Research Center(CCRC). It was a perfect start for a program focused on educating our community leaders about the new CCRC and what a monumental addition to healthcare it will be in Central and South Georgia. Don Faulk's remarks were focused on explaining the funding challenges facing not only The Medical Center, but hospitals across the country. He openly shared current hospital financials which reinforced the growing need for philanthropic support from the community.

Next on the agenda, Judy Paull, RN and Director of Nursing, gave an update on plans for the CCRC noting the location has been confirmed at the corner of Hemlock and Spring Streets, directly across from the Luce Heart Institute. She also discussed the many benefits of the formal alliance with University of Alabama at Birmingham, emphasizing they are one of only 40 NCI(National Cancer Institute)-designated Comprehensive Cancer Centers. This alliance will provide our patients and families increased access to second and third opinions without ever leaving Macon, greater numbers of clinical trials to participate in, and a much wider scope of services.

If your business would like to participate in supporting this new effort and you would like to know more about how to become a Business & Corporate Honor Roll member, please call Debbie Schuchmann at 478-633-6151 or email schuchmann.debbie@mccg.org.

Miracle Child

Amare Threatt

BY: NICK WEST

Children's
Miracle Network
Hospitals

Early into her pregnancy, Tyricia Walker of Macon, was sent to Dr. Mark Boddy, a fetal and maternal perinatologist who specializes in high-risk pregnancy. Her situation was dire – the baby maturing inside of her was growing, but with a large tumor the size of his head attached to his neck. Because the tumor was growing along with the baby, at 37 weeks, Tyricia delivered by cesarean section. With baby and mother still attached via umbilical cord, an ex utero intrapartum treatment (EXIT) procedure was performed by a team of subspecialists. (Physicians that made up the team include ENT physicians, pediatric surgeons, a neonatologist, perinatologist and pediatric radiologist.) Immediately the baby had to have his airway secure because the tumor was constricting his ability to breath. The baby was moved to the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit at The Children's Hospital at The Medical Center of Central Georgia to be stabilized. Within two days, pediatric surgeons removed the 13-ounce tumor. Subsequent surgeries have also been performed. Amare is now four months old and is at home with mom and dad.

Had it not been for the expertise of these subspecialists and the services provided by The Children's Hospital and Women's Services at The Medical Center of Central Georgia, Ms. Walker and her baby, Amare, would have had to travel to hospitals in Boston or Philadelphia for these complicated procedures. A surgery of this magnitude is the first for MCG.

BY: MISSI UPSHAW

Dealing with the profound grief of losing a loved one is never easy and some people, especially children, may not know how to express their feelings. Through a new program of The Children's Hospital, Bo's Camp, children who have experienced the death of a family member or other significant person in their lives, as well as their parents and guardians, will have the opportunity to learn coping skills and healthy, productive ways of expressing their grief.

The first annual Bo's Camp will be held September 28th-30th at Hephzibah Children's Home in Macon. It will be a three-day, family-centered camp offered free of charge to children 5- 18 years of age and their parents or guardians. Bo's Camp is designed to help children and adults learn to face grief and begin the healing journey. The camp provides an opportunity to meet other families with similar experiences. It is important for families who have lost a loved to know it is okay to smile again, and at Bo's Camp they can learn the skills to reconnect as a family and know it is healing to have fun. Sponsored by The Children's Hospital at The Medical Center of Central Georgia, Bo's Camp is staffed with a trained group of professionals who provide small group sessions to encourage campers to share memories of their loved ones and learn healthy coping skills.

Bo's Camp is an outreach service of the HUGS (Helping Understanding Guiding & Support) program of The Children's Hospital. HUGS is a palliative care resource which provides support and care for children and their families with chronic medical conditions or life limiting illnesses.

The name and the spirit of Bo's Camp are based upon the life of Bo Berg, a 3 month old child cared for by The Children's Hospital. Bo is the son of James and Valli Berg and little brother of Molly. In September of 2011, Bo suffered an accidental traumatic head injury which led to his death.

For families like the Bergs, this camp fulfills a mission and a need in our region. A part of our mission is to offer an outreach service to grieving children and their families after the death of a loved one. Bo's Camp offers a safe place for campers to explore their feelings and share experiences with others their age, in a professional, compassionate, and family-centered environment which will enhance the healing process.

The camp is supported by generosity of the community. If you would like to sponsor a camper or donate to Bo's Camp, please visit www.childrenshospitalmacon.org/bocamp.

Planned Giving:

Introducing Rick, Susan and Jeff...

BY: SUSAN WATKINS

Rick Bonfim, Susan Watkins, and Jeff Rutledge

The Medcen Community Health Foundation is pleased to have Jeff Rutledge and Rick Bonfim co-chair our Planned Giving Committee. "We chose to become a part of Medcen because we saw it as a unique opportunity to use our professional skill set to contribute to the support of the Medical Center of Central Georgia, an entity which is vital to the health care of our community", agree Jeff and Rick.

Jeffrey M. Rutledge is currently an attorney (of Counsel) with James Bates, LLP, in the firm's Wealth Planning section. He is a 1993 graduate of Mercer University and a 1997 graduate of Mississippi College School of Law. Jeff is married to Tracy (17 years) and they have 4 children, Emily, Caroline, Thomas and Will.

Rick Bonfim is currently a financial advisor with Wells Fargo Advisors. He is a 1992 graduate of Mercer University. Rick is married to Laura (17 years) and they have 2 children, Mary Jayne and Harrison.

"For those who desire to positively impact our health care community, a planned gift is a unique vehicle to do so. There are dozens of opportunities available which will allow a gift to be designated in a manner that honors your family name, but more importantly, in a manner that can have a long lasting impact on those you leave behind" advises Rick. "Planned gifts (in the form, for example, of a gift under a will or a beneficiary designation of a life insurance policy or retirement plan) are more often than not sizeable (as compared to lifetime gifts) and generally come in the form of one lump sum. Our community relies heavily on the Medical Center of Central Georgia for its health care needs, and meeting those needs requires substantial financial support. Sizeable lump sum gifts can meet these needs effectively and efficiently" states Jeff.

"If you haven't visited the Medical Center of Central Georgia in the past few years, including its related facilities such as Carlyle Place and the recently opened Pine Pointe Hospice, you should do so. It is eye opening to see the new and the renovated facilities and the equipment that are now available for our community and the impact they have on the patients. In some form or fashion, either personally or by way of a family member or friend, we all will be impacted by the care that these facilities provide, and to be only a small part of the condition of those facilities has to be rewarding" comments Jeff.

Susan Watkins will be involved with Planned Giving with The Medcen Foundation and is looking forward to working with Jeff and Rick. She joined the Medcen Community Health Foundation as a Development Officer in December 2011.

Susan is pleased to have the opportunity to help keep The Medical Center of Central Georgia on the cutting edge through philanthropy so it can continue to give Central Georgia citizens the excellent healthcare they expect and deserve. Having had several close friends affected by cancer, Susan is passionate about providing a convenient one stop shop for our cancer patients with the new Comprehensive Cancer and Research Center. Having a research partnership with University of Alabama in Birmingham, The Medical Center will be able to effectively contribute to research helping to find a cure for this frightening disease and to have extra insight into the best possible treatment for each patients.

"Ethel Cullinan is such an inspiration to me - looking at all the lives she has touched over her 20 year career with Medcen through the Children's Hospital, the Heart Center, the ICU, Pine Pointe Hospice, Carlyle Place, and so much more," raves Susan.

Susan is familiar with the challenges in healthcare bringing over 12 years of experience in the field as a pharmaceutical sales representative. She credits her previous success with staying patient focused. This should work well in her new position, too. "I am honored to help provide an opportunity for individuals and businesses to give back to our community through philanthropic gifts which will ultimately result in better patient care for our family, friends and neighbors", says Susan.

Susan has lived in Macon for over 16 years. She enjoys raising her children, Richard, 18, and Maiben, 16. She was raised in Mobile, AL and proudly graduated from Auburn University.

Please contact Susan, Rick or Jeff to talk about leaving a legacy that will benefit generations to come. (478) 633-6926 or watkins.susan@mccg.org.

Local Scouting Projects Benefit Pine Pointe Hospice

BY: ELLEN TERRELL

Two service projects this year by local scouts helped add to the serenity and splendor of Pine Pointe Hospice. For this Eagle Scout Leadership Project, Patrick Sparks collected and donated over 2,000 books to place in our patient rooms. The variety of the books has proven to be inspirational, helpful, amusing and a way to occupy the minds of family and friends during the hospice experience. Holly Stephens, for her Girl Scout Gold Award, built a scenic garden complete with three park benches, fragrant plants, a stone walkway, and bird feeders and houses. Its ambient atmosphere allows family members a slight respite from the trying time in their lives.

Remembering Greta May Allen

BY: ELLEN TERRELL

I recently had the privilege of sitting down with Dr. Barbara Dalrymple at Pine Pointe Hospice as she reflected on the special memories she holds so dear of Greta May Allen, who she refers fondly of as "Aunt Ellen". Dr Dalrymple recently purchased a bench in the Burke Courtyard of Pine Pointe Hospice in memory of her Aunt. When I inquired about the special bond which is so evident between them, she replied "Growing up in Jamaica, we had very little money, but Aunt Ellen always instilled in me that the Lord would provide. She also encouraged me to get a good education and be independent". Ms. Allen passed away in 1999 at 92 years of age but there's no doubt that she was very proud of her niece. Dr. Dalrymple became an Ob/Gyn physician in 1977 and has cared for many, many citizens of our community since 1984. She retired from full-time practice in 2003 but that did not slow her down. She began serving as the Medical Director for the Department of Corrections soon after retiring and continues to serve the inmates today. Our community is very fortunate to have Dr. Dalrymple so we thank her and the memory of her aunt who played such a pivotal role in her life.

H.E.A.T. Supports United in Pink

BY: ELLEN TERRELL

HEAT (Healthcare Employees Achieving Tomorrow), the employee giving program at CGHS, supports many local charities through the grants they award each summer. One such charity this past summer was United in Pink, formerly known as Bunko for Breast Cancer. Please allow me to share with you the story of this awesome charity.

United in Pink was originally founded as Bunko for Breast Cancer in May 2005. It began as a fundraiser hosted by a local survivor as an outreach and token of appreciation to the caregivers and community that supported her during her battle with breast cancer.

In 2007, Bunko for Breast Cancer incorporated and became a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. Its mission was to support the entire family affected by a breast cancer diagnosis.

In June 2011, the organization changed its name to United in Pink to better represent its mission. United in Pink strives to increase survivorship and strengthen families affected by a breast cancer diagnosis. Its offerings seek to positively affect the quality of life of survivors, their spouses and children by addressing their psychological, relational, physical and educational needs.

Key activities include, but are not limited to: monthly survivorship workshops, quarterly family socials, distribution of educational materials to families and healthcare professionals, increased collaboration with local organizations, hospital and medical offices, increased speaking engagements to survivors to improve health literacy, continued support for all patients regardless of stage of disease, demographics and financial capabilities and continuation of survivorship care from date of diagnosis until end of life.

United in Pink continues to expand its presence into new communities by partnering with other organizations and companies.

United in Pink currently serves patients in over 10 counties throughout Central Georgia and offers all services at no charge. The organization's largest fundraiser continues to be its annual Bunko for Breast Cancer gathering held each February. In 2011, the event raised $65,000. United in Pink has further expanded its fundraising efforts and raises over $90,000 each year to cover the costs of its programs and services.

A big THANKS to all the employees who participate in H.E.A.T. Know that your gifts are much appreciated and reach far into our community to help those in need.

HOPE Playroom New Major Gift Donors

BY: KATHY TOLBERT

Ken and Lisa Saitow

During the past year, over 1,200 kids were seen in the HOPE (Hematology Oncology Place of Excellence) for Kids Center to receive treatment for either cancer or a blood disorder. Many were scared and needed a safe outlet to just relax and be a kid. They wanted a playroom and a place to escape. Thanks to the generous donation from Ken and Lisa Saitow, the HOPE for Kids playroom moved from a dream to a reality.

This past January, the HOPE for Kids Playroom was dedicated and opened for kids to enjoy. Ken spoke at the dedication of how his father, Gerald (Jerry) Saitow, was diagnosed with acute myeloid leukemia in May of 2003. Unfortunately, after 9 short months of his diagnosis, Jerry passed away. Ken and Lisa wanted to do something to honor his father and when they heard about the HOPE for Kids Playroom, they knew this would be the perfect fit! "When the playroom opportunity presented itself, we knew immediately that this was the opportunity we were looking for and that it would be fitting to dedicate it to his memory. My father would have deeply appreciated everything that is being done here. A loving father and a doting grandfather who enjoyed being with and around children, he would be especially pleased that this is in an environment dedicated to children and their families" states Ken.

It has been said that a doctor's job is to diagnose and treat the child, a nurse's job is to help educate and treat the child and family, the family's job is to take care of the child and the child's job is to play. Thanks to Lisa and Ken, now everyone is able to perform their job!

Camp 2 Go

This past November, Camp Twin Lakes brought "Camp" to the patients of The Children's Hospital. Patients enjoyed the day camping in tents, gold panning, arts and crafts, singing camp songs around the fire and roasting smores. Bringing camp to the hospital allows kids who might otherwise not be able to attend camp the opportunity to experience camp firsthand. ● ↓

Lane Southern Orchards

← ● This past October, our great friends at Lane Southern Orchards gathered pumpkins and brought them up to The Children's Hospital for our patients to paint. The employees of Lane Southern Orchards set up the pumpkins in the activity room at The Children's Hospital and helped patients draw faces onto the pumpkins to paint. The patients and families had a blast painting their pumpkins and getting ready to celebrate Halloween.
